Waves Graduation & Leadership Celebration

Honoring journeys, inspiring futures, and leading change together

24 – 27 March 2026

Bangkok, Thailand

Weaving Leadership for Gender Equality is a regional initiative developed and implemented by the Regional Community Forestry Training Center for Asia and Pacific (RECOFTC) through Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (Sida)'s support. WAVES program works to amplify the leadership of young gender leaders from seven Asian countries to tackle systematic inequities and marginalization prevalent in the natural resource landscapes. The program seeks to engage young women and men in addressing the gendered inequalities in forestry landscapes in the climate crisis.

The second cohort of WAVES program has rolled out from September 2025 to March 2026 to enhance the capacity of 20 participants from Asia and the Pacific and beyond the RECOFTC countries. The program aims to introduce the interconnected topics of climate change and gender equality and social inclusion to advocate for environmental justice. The program intends to cultivate early career professional leadership and advocacy for gender equality during the climate crisis and deepen their influence in the sector. Specifically, WAVES second cohort is targeted to:

- Increase the understanding of the key gendered differences and challenges in the nexus between climate change and natural resource management.
- Identify potential policy implications for early career professional on climate change and biodiversity conservation in community forestry and mainstream them in the policies and practices.
- To provide avenue for the young leaders to advance their leadership through exchange of knowledge, skills, opinions, and good practices, ensuring mutual learning to advance their leadership skills to drive to collective actions.

Through the 7-month journey of Waves II Batch 2, it encompasses a blend of virtual and in-person events to ensure widespread participation and impact. The participants designed, planned, and implemented transformative innovative projects, and RECOFTC provided mentorships to the projects. The training program will end with the wrap up workshop where the participants share the leadership journey.

RECOFTC is organizing the WAVES Capstone Workshop for the Second Cohort batch II on 24 –27 March 2026 at RECOFTC Main Office, Bangkok, Thailand. The workshop will bring together all program participants and mentors to reflect on progress, share lessons learned, and discuss the way forward on continuing promoting gender equality and social inclusion in forestry and climate actions.
